COMMANDER EATON'S REPORT. Terribly Effective Fire of the Indiana on July 3. Commander J. G. Eaton, commanding the U. S. S. Reselute, has made a report to the Navy Department in regard to the nava

"The Resolute, which I commanded, lay just east of the Indiana, distant from her battle of July 3, in which he says:

within the arc of the circle described by under a slow bell and stopped when the was due west of us and just outthe circle of fighting ships. The ward, nearly off Aguadores.

"As the Maria Teresa appeared the Iowa fired a six-pounder and hoisted signal. Within a few seconds of this shot (not more than five or ten) all the Spanish bat-teries opened, and at the same instant the teries opened, and at the same instant the port broadside of the Maria Teresa was ischarged. It seemed to me then that all r nearly all, of these shots and shells ere fired at the Indiana, and as the Reso lute lay directly in line, the water around the Indiana and the Resolute was alive with the fall of projectiles. Before the Vizcaya appeared the Indiana opened fire heavy guns, and, with screws whitening the water astern, was heading or the Morro. As the Vizcaya came out Vizcaya. The fired her port battery apparently Indiana, for many of the shells about and beyond the Resolute, ristobal Colon, as soon as she was Morro point, fired her first broad-course of the Indiana's projectiles.

The other ships engaged, except the Oregon and occasionally the Brooklyn, which showed at times to be southward. but were most of the time hidden by other vessels (the Resolute being by this time well to the windward) were hidden in smoke. From the position of the ships en-gaged it appeared to me that the Indiana was the first to close with the escaping enemy, and, though I could see the Teresa and Vizcaya sweeping across her course, and, though I could see the Teresa it was apparent that the Indiana's shells were the first to reach them. This was due, first, to the proximity, and, second, to the fact that the Indiana had a fair beam target on each ship as it came out.

"The Oregon had this in a less degree, and the other vessels engaged seemed to have all fired their first shells when the Spanish ships were four points on.
"In addition to the heavier shells noted as striking the enemy, we could count many lighter projectiles from the secondary bat-tery exploding on board, and, as the Indiana's fire was incessant, I took these to be from her guns.

"The Spanish officers who were prisoners from the Colon and the Vizcaya have since told me that the fire from the In-diana and the Oregon, as they (the Spanfards) passed from the harbor, was deadly in its destructiveness, and that although the Colon escaped with small injury, due to her greater speed, and being in a measure covered by other ships, the Vizcaya was hopelessly crippled before she had gone a mile from the Morro."

HELD FOR GRAND JURY.

Judge Kimball Takes Action in Four Probably Serious Cases.

Four grand tury cases were disposed of in Judge Kimball's court today. One of the defendants was Howard White, who was arrested by Precinct Detectives Hartigan and Horne on a charge of stealing a pocket book containing $265, the property of Millard F. Ward. The court disposed of the case by requiring a bond of $1,000 for the action of the grand jury.

In the case of ex-Policeman Daniel Raedy, charged with entering a bicycle establishment at 3d street and Massachusetts avenue for the purpose of robbery, counsel waived an examination. A bond in the sum of $500 for his appearance was re-

WILL GO TO PHILADELPHIA

From Camp Meade.

The committee from Philadelphia having charge of the arrangements for the military and naval display of the jubilee at Philadelphia called on the Secretary of introduced by Representative McAleer and were headed by Mayor Warwick of Philadelphia. They were joined at the departnent by Representative Loudenslager of New Jersey and Representative Wanger of Secretary of War in the War Department reception room, and Mr. Henry Clay, act ing as spokesman, presented the request of

The Interview With the Secretary. Secretary Alger received the committee with great cordiality, expressing his inter-

Mayor Warwick first presented the Sec retary with a formal invitation to participate in the celebration, and the Secretary said it was his desire and his intention to be present, if possible. The Secretary acquiesced in the requests made, holding in reserve only some minor details as to how the orders should be executed. The matter of transportation of troops being an important consideration, Mr. Clay assured the Secretary of the willingness of the city of Philadelphia to do everything necessary in this particular.

The Secretary replied that the department would have to consider just how far the expenditures by the government for transportation would be admissable, but said that it was his opinion that the pres-ence of the President at the celebration made it an occasion of truly national character, and that it would be proper that a very considerable body of soldiers should be ordered there at government expense in attendance upon the President. This was a matter, however, to be considered, and with the assurance that the city of Philadelphia will do whatever the government could not in the way of transportation, he said that the troops asked for would be ordered to Philadelphia.

The Secretary, as the requests were made of him, answered them categorically, all in the affirmative, except that as to the at-tendance of Gens. Shafter, Wheeler and Lee, with respect to which he signified indefinite acquiescence, and with respect to the attendance of the colored troops designated, he said that the colored troops would be represented, and that he hoped to be able to order the particular troops that were asked for by the committee. The com-mittee asked that 350 officers and men of the 21st Regular Infantry, now at Plattsthe 21st Regular Infantry, now at Platts-burg barracks, should be ordered to partic-ipate in the jubilee, giving as a reason the fact that they were under command of Col. McKibbin, who is a Philadelphian, and that they had distinguished themselves by gallantry in battle, singing the "Star Spangled Banner" and wading waist-deep through vater in a charge, under fire from the enemy. the enemy.

The Secretary said that this request would be granted.

The committee requested also a battery of United States artillery, a squadron of United States cavalry, the 6th preferred, two companies having been recruited Philadelphia; also an assignment of colore troops from the 9th and 10th Colored Cav-airy, and the 24th and 25th Colored Regular Infantry. The Secretary said that he would comply with this request, sending the particular colored troops asked for, if Noted Commanders Wanted.

The committee also asked consent for the attendance of Gens. Shafter, Wheeler, Lee, Graham, Sumner, Young and McKibben, and such other heroes of the war as could be prevailed upon to accept. The Secretary made a general acquiesc ence to this, but did not answer definitely that Shafter, Lee and Wheeler could be present. In response to the request that the 2d Army Corps at Camp Meade should be ordered to participate in the jubilee, with all the Pennsylvania troops and battalions from the regiments from each of the fourteen states represented there, responded promptly that the order would be issued, and that the matter of transportation, that is, whether the government should pay all or part, would be determined on later, it being understood that if the government culd not arrange it, Philadelphia would The committee, in view of the fact that a umber of the volunteer troops would be without arms, possibly on account of be-ing mustered out before that time, asked for the loan of rifls and other accourre-

The Secretary expects to serve a double purpose by the construction of this road. extremely crude. It is not possible to get troops within three or four hundred miles of Santiago by rail from Havana, while the whole of the province of Santiago eastward is without means of communication. States is to maintain garrisons on the island for any length of time it will be necessary to open communication with them. Secretary Alger believes that this can only be done effectively by rail.

Another and no less important service to be served by the construction of the road would be to restore prosperity to the island at the earliest possible moment and alleviate the distress now existing among the native Cubans. The construction of the railroad would give work to many of the unemployed native laborers. They would then receive wages which they had hon-estly earned, instead of money in charity,

Then, as the road progresses, sections of the country would be opened up that are row inaccessible to trade. The native of the seaports would increase, and the whole island would be benefited by the con-

American garrisons, to make an examina-tion of the country with particular refer-ence to this proposed railway extension. This data will be furnished by the board when it returns to the United States. It is that by following the plateau in the middle of Cuba, the cost can be kept at moderate figures. and no doubt is entertained that United State government would be edily able to reimburse itself for what-

"On the 28th of March, 1851, the then archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Dumner, invited the bishop of Vermont, as he did all the American bishops, to take part in celebrating the third jubilee of the venerable Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts. In his answer to that invitation my father suggested—and as far as I know was the first to suggest-

The first suggestion of such a conference with which I am acquainted appears in a letter many years ago from the American bishop of Vermont to the late archbishop of Canterbury, from which I make the following extract: "I fervently hope that the time may come when we shall meet in the good old fashion of synodical action. How nat-ural and how reasonable would it seem to be if in a time of controversy and division there should be a council of all the bishops in communion with your grace. • • • It is my own firm belief that such a measure would be productive of immense advantage and would exercise a moral influence far beyond that of any secular legislation."'"
The above quotations are from the life of the bishop by Rev. Dr. John Henry Hop-
